1950s Chevrolet DeLuxe

Mr Enrique shows us this beautiful 1950s Chevrolet DeLuxe, thoroughly renovated and ready for the road.

This car has a great history, came to Colombia directly from the factory in Detroit, where it was used by a successful French merchant, even this beautiful car has stories about its conquests to beautiful women of the time.

Its owner, died leaving an immense fortune to his heirs, however this car was abandoned for 50 years, he lived rats and other rodents, until one day a client of Mr. Leyton, bought it to take it to his workshop and that will start the magic. It was a detailed and handmade task, which took more than 24 months, to leave the car as it left the factory.

Now you can enjoy some important images of this classic revived by the great Enrique Leyton:

Sexuality

HOW TO LAST LONGER IN BED, PART II.

Continuing with the monthly deliveries, to last longer in bed, we add to the recommendations in past editions, a technique that basically serves to strengthen the pelvic muscle, responsible for generating support.

Dr. Arnold Kegel, who developed them for his patients in the 1940s as a method to control urinary incontinence. His article was published in 1948.

Guided by women's multiple circumstances, it was discovered that his practice strengthens the pelvic musculature of men as well. Generous discovery focused directly to the capacity of resistance of the masculine orgasms, since this muscle is in charge of generating resistance.

However, let's go in order:Kegel created some very easy, morning practice exercises, which you can do at work, or the car, or wherever, consists of the following:To squeeze the pelvic muscle for a lapse, then let it rest, then squeeze, and so on repeatedly.Before I continue, I will show you how to identify the pelvic muscle:You will identify it because when you are urinating, and you need to stop, that contraction that you do when you stop urinating, you do it with the pelvic muscle. That muscle is what you must contract with Kegel exercises.

Now I'll show you a Kegel routine to strengthen the pelvic muscle:Stage 1:You can start with 12 repetitions of 5 seconds, resting 5 seconds between them, this you can do the first 7 days

Now I'll show you a Kegel routine to strengthen the pelvic muscle:

Stage 1: You can start with 12 repetitions of 5 seconds, resting 5 seconds between them, this you can do the first 7 days.

Stage 2: You will increase 15 repetitions of 15 seconds, resting 10 seconds, for 15 more days.

Stage 3: You will do 10 repetitions of 30 seconds each, with breaks of 10 seconds between repetitions, additional at the end, you will do 12 repetitions of 2 seconds each, with 2 seconds of rest between them.

Rest one week, and start the previous three stages again, and thus the necessary time (perhaps months) until your pelvic floor looks resistant.

You will verify it then at the moment of finding the orgasm, you will be able to squeeze and to stop to continue having sex.

I hope you add it to the advice of the previous edition, and that this serves to be a great stallion.

Sex with Robots

Wow looks like it's out of a movie, but it doesn't. Maybe soon in the red light district of your city you will find this great innovation.

The virtual reality that these modern devices are endowed with is such that you must negotiate their price, they are programmed to seduce you, and you can even choose between virgin robots -wtf-, some very similar to porn stars, even to Hollywood stars.

Unicole Unicron is the first of these robogirls, who opened a crowdfunding campaign with the aim of opening the world's first brothel with sexual robots he plans to open in Los Angeles California, under the name Eve's Robot Dreams.

Basically the robogirls of this brothel are RealDoll X sexual robots, completely customized, and stylized for the success of the brothel. The planning is simple, whoever wears this brothel must download the Realbotix app to learn more about the robogirl, and hire her for something like $122, even if the first visitors must pay $10,000.

The rates are regulated, because the maintenance of the machine, added to the perfect cleanliness that it must have, makes the expenses are high. It is also projected the improvement structure and intellectual technology brings with it, so the robogirls will be in constant progress.

Well, it won't take long to get to your city in a few months, please tell us your experience.

Confessional of infidels:The new mom in the office.

Hi, I'm Susan.

I want to write to Inciter Magazine, because it opens the anonymous space to tell my story. Maybe I write it as a way to vent, because this can not be told anyone, I would be judged.

Some time ago after my son turned 5, I decided to go back to work, wow I noticed that things have changed, now the routine of work is much sexier. My job consisted of reviewing some cases from the law firm, at the end of the day I noticed that my classmates were attending the gym (which is why they are all very sexy).

A few months went by, my husband didn't like my job, so we took distance, and our sex life fell, so much so that we barely greeted each other and said goodbye. In view of my husband's disinterest, I wanted to spend more time outside, so I entered the gym where my co-workers attend.

There I met Mike, who was a young man, a little younger than me, seemed very sweet and was always kind.

It turned out that Mike and I were always very close, his office was next to mine, one day we greeted each other in the coffee room, and we talked about many things, in which he told me about his unsatisfactory sex life with his girlfriend, who was a model, who apparently did not know how to satisfy him in bed.

This story motivated me to tell him that I was also going through an unsatisfactory time. Which led us to take a lot of confidence and affinity. In the following days, I noticed that Mike looked at me differently, and I cannot deny that the idea of a dissatisfied man helped me to masturbate in my moments of loneliness.

One day in the gym there was an accident, so it was closed, and I noticed that Mike was exercising in the park, I accompanied him, and behind a tree, not knowing how he made me wet, as instinctively my mouth began to give him oral sex, and we went to his house.

I felt very rich, I think I had a repressed sexual accumulation, because we lasted all night having sex. This game became routine, at the end of the job, I went to Mike's house, instead of my job, almost daily we did it, and I loved this.

It all happened until Mike was moved to Germany, to the head office, but I feel that having lovers is delicious and my mind only thinks of having a new lover, it became like a vice.

Yesterday someone new came to the office, I would like to find him in a park for exercise.
